

Today, let me tell you about the meanest, ugliest woman Mrs Twit. This unkind character is from the book 'The Twits' by Roald Dahl.

Mrs Twit was a dark minded person, who only cared about herself. Unfortunately, her unbrushed hair was like the bristles of a brush. Dark as the night sky, her eyebrow was like a thick bush. Her glass eye wobbled about constantly starring at the other eye. Like the length of a ruler, her crooked, pointy nose hung down to her chin. On special occasions, Mrs Twit would smile evilly and show her pointy, black teeth. A tunnel like gap was evident from her missing teeth. Although, don't get too close. Her breath smelt like rotten eggs. Flies were often seen hovering above her due to the potent smell that surrounded her. Like a blanket, her emerald green dress wrapped around her.

The old witch like woman had a heart of stone and was mean and cruel. Grumpily, the overweight pot-bellied woman, who was sly and sneaky, often shouted at children. On many occasions, Mrs Twit has been caught hitting things with her walking stick, things like dogs, cats and even small children!

I hope you enjoyed learning about Mrs Twit. If you want to find out more about her I recommend you read the book.
